1. The degree of cryptographic security afforded by Converter Type M-134-T2 as it now stands is so great and so far superior to all other systems known that the construction of the two additional models is deemed wholly warranted. This Division therefore fully concurs in the statement contained in Par. 2 of 1st Ind.

2. It is recommended that no steps other than those already determined upon be taken at present in connection with the current development of Converter M-134-T2.
