

12th, March 1919

My dear Colonel Fabyan:

Reference your letter of 10th, March 1919, just received, because sent to the wrong address, 1202 Eighteenth Street, instead of 1513 Meridian Place, N. W., I suppose you received my letter of the 18th of February of which the enclosed is a copy.

[Unfortunately, I have not had the time to operate the cipher apparatus and give you the messages mentioned. I expect to do this work within the next three days. The letter should go out not later than Sunday night.

I am extremely sorry that I was not able to do this sooner, but many things have interfered. I trust this will be satisfactory.]

With best regards, as ever

Yours,

Colonel George Fabyan,
P. O. Box 435,
Chicago, Illinois

1 Enclosure

GEORGE FABYAN
CHICAGO

P O BOX 435

March 10, 1919.

Dear Colonel Mauborgne:

I returned home this morning and I expected to have a communication from you. Why won't you send it to me? If it is not consistent, please advise.

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be 'GF', written over the typed name 'George Fabyan'.