

Martan thinks the only cure for this is education: constantly acquainting potential offenders with actual cases such as the one attached.

The question arose as to G-2's security functions in relation to C Branch's. He doesn't know and hasn't been able to find out much about it. Do we know in SSA? Would the case in question be a matter to come under G-2 jurisdiction alone, or is SSA partly responsible?

In any case Martan would not learn of these practices from such sources unless someone like us sees to it that he does. Here again there is no automatic policy.
